“LIFE IS EDUCATION AND EDUCATION IS LIFE”

Brahmananda Keshab Chandra Sen

(November 19, 1838 – January 8, 1884)

“His life was a pilgrimage of extraordinary faith, which made him trust in the infinite mercy of God in the darkest hour of love, which bequeathed him charity and compassion, and purity, which kept the lustre of his private life, undimmed to the last”- Sunity Devi(Educationist and daughter of Keshab Chandra Sen)

One of the leading intellectuals of the nineteenth century Bengal, a period popularly referred to as the Bengal Renaissance, Keshab Chandra Sen was born on 19th of November, 1838 to Peary Mohan Sen and Saradasundari Devi.

Belonging to a Hindu family, Keshab Chandra Sen was educated in a humanist tradition. It is this education that saw him inculcating the Unitarian thought of Parker, Newman and Emerson. In 1857, he joined the newly established socio- religious movement, the Brahma Samaj and soon became its intellectual voice. Working with the ideas of egalitarianism and rationalism, this movement drew on the basic ideas of Christianity, Islam and Hinduism to create a casteless, forward moving society that would be devoid of social evils. Despite their difference in ideas, Sri Ramkrishna and keshab Chandra Sen were friends and mutual admirers.

Keshab Chandra Sen provided an able leadership to this movement and worked not only in the field of religious reform but also in the areas of women’s education and widow remarriage. His oratory and missionary zeal earned him laurels. Debendranath Tagore referred to him as ‘Brahmananda’. In 1865, Keshab Chandra Sen broke away from the BrahmaSamaj establishing and creating a separate unit within the Brahma Samaj, Bharat barshiya Brahma Samaj . In 1862, he helped found the Albert College and wrote articles for the Indian Mirror, a weekly journal of the Calcutta Brahma Samaj in which he wrote profusely on religious, moral and social issues of the day. He worked at the act that legalized contract marriages in 1872. He later pioneered Sulabh Samachar, Dharma Tattawa and Paricharika. In 1881 he officially instituted Naba Bidhan (New Dispensation), based on syncretism, embracing all space and all time. Keshab Chandra Sen breathed his last on the 8th of January 1884.

This College has a huge list of alumni well placed in various esteemed institutions throughout India as academicians, theatre personalities and also top level administrators. It has also a record set of excellent teachers who are well known for their scholarly activities and researches of international stature. The teachers as well as the extremely efficient non-teaching staff regularly cater to the needs of the students at any odd hour of the day.

As our objective is advancement of learning accompanied by modern teaching aids, the campus is now WIFI enabled with digital classrooms. Also the library resources are enormous with huge collection of books and journals. Apart from academics, the students are always encouraged to nurture their hidden talents through various extra-curricular activities. For the holistic development of the youth of today, amongst the eco-friendly sprawling green campus of the college over-viewing the Bon-Hooghly Lake, we also encourage and promote conservation of biodiversity through its sustainable development.

During the pandemic situation, we also conducted several webinars and workshops in collaboration with many reputed Universities, National & international institutions. However, the pandemic phase has at last lost its rigour and we are returning to our normal activities. This year we are introducing New Education Policy framed by the Government. Hope this new policy would modernise our education system and enable the students to prove their mettle better.

ABOUT THE COLLEGE

Brahmananda Keshab Chandra College, named after the nineteenth century social reformer, Keshab Chandra Sen, has completed over fifty years of providing education to students who usually come from the underprivileged section of society. Popularly known as B.K.C College, the institution was set up with the aim of filling a vacuum in higher education in areas with influx of population from the East Pakistan and has always striven to excel in creating capable citizens of India. Alumni of the College have served the country in various fields. The College, a UGC registered college (under 2f & 12B), believes in the idea that education does not consist in mere learning, but involves fostering a sense of social responsibility among its students, the future pioneers of social change. It is with these aims that the college has been moving ahead, contributing to the cause of education and hopes to do so in the years to come.

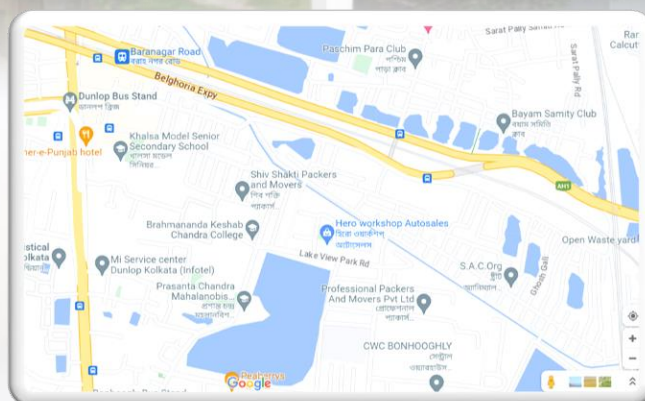

In 1954, Professor J. C. Ghosh, the then Vice-Chancellor of Calcutta University, surveyed the available higher educational facilities in North 24 Parganas. The survey revealed that facilities were inadequate for the huge influx of refugees in the area. Professor Ghosh stressed the immediate necessity of setting up at least six colleges for male and female students in the suburbs of Kolkata in order to cope with the growing demand for college education in both humanities and sciences. He further suggested that these six colleges should be established and financed by the Central Relief and Rehabilitation Ministry, Government of India. Soon after, Dr. B. C. Roy, the then Chief Minister of West Bengal, took up the proposal with the Government of India, which was accepted by the Central Relief and Rehabilitation Ministry. The Ministry agreed to set up six colleges in and around Kolkata and bear the financial commitments as well.

The College was thus established in Bon-Hooghly in the year 1956 as one of the colleges under this scheme with the aim of providing higher education, and was named after Brahmananda Keshab Chandra Sen, the great socio-religious reformer of the country, during Renaissance. Initially the college was housed at Sagar Dutta Free High School, Kamarhati and later moved to its own present premises in 1957. This college, a UGC registered college (under 2f and 12B) is one of the premier institutes in North 24 parganas. Initially affiliated to the University of Calcutta, the college has now been affiliated to West Bengal State University, Barasat from the session 2008-2009.
